Summary: It is just a legend I thought up out of boredom.

How the world began

**_Disclaimer: i do not own any of these characters nor am i making any money so do not sue me. I just wrote this to be sure that none of these people are in some game or show or something like that.

>  Hi, i am only writing this because i am very bored so i have no idea if you will like it but i hope you do. oh and this is only my second time writing so go a little easy. And this is a legend.

> How the World Began.....

> Once there were five goddesses and one god. The five goddesses were named Din, Nyru, Earth, Faroe, and Pipper. And the one and only god's name was Age. Din, the goddess of fire, was the oldest. Her eyes, nails, hair, and lips were all the color of fire; yet her body was a pure paper white. Nyru, the goddess of earth (land), was the second born. Her eyes, hair, lips, and nails were all an emerald green color; while her body was a soft dirt brown. Faroe, the goddess of wisdom, was the third born. Her hair, lips, eyes, and nails were as blue as the sky just after sunset and her body was the soft pink of cotton candy. Pipper, the fourth born, was the goddess of life. Her hair was jet black, her eyes were sea foam green, her nails were red like the sun, her lips were orange like the sky during sunset or sunrise, and her body was a mixture of soft brown, cotton candy pink, paper white, blue just after sunset, and violet like a type of flower. Age, the fifth born, is the god of Truth and light. His nails, eyes, lips, and hair were all a fiery color like the sun; and his body is the color of a rainbow or the color of Truth. (which I have no clue what color that is, but you can make it up if you want to.) And little Earth, the smallest of them all yet the most powerful for she is the goddess of love. Her lips, hair, nails, and eyes were all a deep passionate red; and her body was yet a soft delicate pink and white mixture. One day, the six of them were playing catch with a star near the Milky Way. Earth was about to throw the star over to Age but just when she let go of the star it exploded and Earth was caught in the blast, she was killed. For Years and years the other goddesses and god wept and wept.

> Until one day they saw a dark and lonely planet. They decided to make it beautiful. Nyrue with strong arms fashioned the land and seas. So then Pipper with her lovely lips kissed the world and gave life to all that lives today. And Faroe with her beautiful nails cut into the world and gave its people wisdom and the land law. And then Din with her flaming hair torched a near by star and made it red. Then Age with his body giuded the light from the red suns light to the world and gave its people truth as well as the light of the sun. But there was something missing in this world for all its people were not happy all they did was hate. Earth saw this as she watched from the Heavens, so she used her deep red eyes to give the people love and in doing so she gave th eland color; wiht one single kind of rose that remains the color of her eyes. When the others saw this they decided ot name the world Earth, for even in death their sister was able to give the power of love to the world.
